The RockSox Case

On January 20th, 2013 the accusation of Rocksox bullying became widely known as the “RockSox case” as well as “the name caller case” and even “the pun case”.

Rocksox allegedly used chance puns that will not be mentioned in this article for the sake of chance. (pictures kindly blurred by Bob). Chance took screenshots and accused RockSoxs of bullying, and attempting to start useless fights. During the debate two sides started to clearly separate, those who thought that Rocksox should be banned and those who thought this was an “over-exaggeration” as porkanna claims in the comments. On January 22nd, RockSox was found not guilty by Handyman, who claimed that this discussion was not going anywhere and RockSox is not going to get banned. Currently, the debate still rages on.

If you would like, answer the following questions here:

- What do you think? Should RockSox be banned or not?
- Should the rules “no bullying”, “Respect other players”, and “Don’t start useless arguments” be better enforced? If yes, then how?

New Forum Record

Many players do not realize the diversity and length of the “offtopic bullshit” post. Not only does it have over 100 pages of full posts, but its over one year old! Originally created by Blackjack on January 13th 2013, it instantly became a hit and got hundreds of posts. Almost every player that has ever joined Craftland has at least once gone to this forum and posted. This makes this post the all time most posted on top-ic.
